Start with a NEW Body and Chassis with Schwartz Performance

Finding a straight, unmolested muscle car or truck body to mount to your Schwartz G-Machine Chassis is getting tougher every day. The expense and time involved in repairing body rust or damage can easily pile up as you assemble your project. To save time, cost and distress, consider starting with an all new body to complement your new chassis.

Schwartz Performance can provide a brand new Dynacorn body mounted to your new G-Machine Chassis. Dynacorn is the leader in reproduction licensed body shells and offers a variety of Chevy and Ford bodies. Each body is built from all brand new sheet metal and in most areas the material is a heavier gauge than the original! Dynacorn builds the bodies to tighter tolerances and provides a stiffer and better body than the original.

Schwartz is an authorized Dynacorn dealer and can supply an all new body for a first gen Camaro or Firebird, '70 Chevelle, '65-'70 Mustang or '47-'53 Chevy truck cab mounted to your new chassis. While they're at it, the Schwartz team can mini-tub the new body to fit your tire/wheel combination. You'll be ahead of the curve with all new sheet metal to complement your brand new chassis, plus you'll save installation and shipping costs!

The Schwartz G-Machine chassis is a complete full-frame design that will bolt under your classic muscle car or truck. Our efficient frame design increases rigidity and decreases weight by replacing the steering gearbox and front end components along with the antiquated rear suspension. Another benefit to the G-Machine chassis is that it easily accepts late model powertrains including Ford Coyote and GM LS platforms. In fact, Schwartz can supply nearly any engine and transmission with your chassis!
