

RHS® Live Chat Online Tech Support

Memphis, TN – RHS® unveils Live Chat instant messaging program that connects customers directly to trained RHS® technicians via the Contact section of www.racingheadservice.com.

RHS® created the RACING HEAD HELP™ hotline and online forums to provide engine builders with the help and support needed to create the most powerful engine combinations possible. Now, the company that delivers Power By Design™ has taken customer service to the next level by connecting customers to cylinder head specialists through an online Live Chat program. This new service connects customers to real technicians through a pop-up chat window on the RHS® webpage. If a customer is looking at cylinder heads or engine block specs and has a question, the real-time answer is now just a few mouse clicks away. Chat conversations can also be saved, emailed or printed for your records. Live Chat allows anyone to instantly receive answers and direction without needing to make an additional phone call or wait for an email response. The new RHS® Live Chat feature is available Monday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. CST.
